The War Today..

The Big Three

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S full schedule and other situations seem to indicate the Big Three meeting will be held between July 5 and 15, but there is at least one possibility, if only a mere possibility, that it could come earlier.

Truman has a tremendous program before him between now and July 15.

The mere fact that the United Nations pact is expected to come before the senate within that period would seem to be enough, since the President could be expected to play an important role then.

But Truman is to confer with Charles De Gaulle next week before leaving for San Francisco where the United Nations conference is expected to close Saturday.

He expects to spend two days at home in Independence, Mo., the following week—perhaps June 27 and 28.

Coupled with the fact that Winston Churchill has an election on his hands July 5, all of this rather restricts the time in which a Big Three meeting can be held if it is to fall within the 40-day period Mr. Truman predicted on June 7, which also ends July 5.

A meeting at such a time, taking the President and probably Harry Hopkins away from Washington when the senate is expected to be debating the pact, would indicate supreme confidence of victory in what might very well turn out to be quite a fight.

Also, Mr. Churchill has already warned his constituents that he might have to be away before the election. Of course, that was before the meeting was definitely arranged.

Joseph Stalin is no longer head of an army fighting in the field, which once gave him good grounds for becoming one of the world's most visited men. A little reciprocity right now might reassure some of his erstwhile callers who are hearing widespread gossip that perhaps their neighborly attentions were more tolerated than desired.

It is hard to imagine anything which would fire the world with greater confidence, which would send the UNCO delegates home with greater enthusiasm, than to see Joseph Stalin and Winston Churchill join Harry Truman on the platform at the final meeting in San Francisco.

To repeat, a mere possibility. But isn't it an interesting one? And it certainly would ease the strain on Mr. Truman's date book.

Red Cross Appeals For Articles To Aid Veterans

A number of unpurchasable items are vitally needed by the Salem Red Cross for World War II veterans who have returned to this country.

Fishing rods, hip boots, leather hucks, large metal ash trays, sun pads and metal punch bowls top the list of needed items at the present time, Mrs. Brooks Anderson, chairman of the local chapter's camp and hospital committee, said today.

Dams have been constructed near Deshon General hospital and patients there are being encouraged to fish as a part of the therapy program, she said.

Anyone with any of these items and who would like to help out the local program can do so by bringing them to the Red Cross office in the Memorial building.

OCCUPATION JOB FALLS TO U. S. 3RD, 7TH

Future Role of 15th Army Now In Germany, Is Not Disclosed

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Secretary of War Stimson said today the Third and Seventh armies have been selected as the American army's occupation forces in Germany rather than the 15th army.

He did not, however, disclose the future of the 15th army, which until recently has been viewed as the probable occupation outfit.

Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., commander of the Third, who was present at Stimson's news conference today, will return soon to his command in Europe, the secretary said.

The Seventh army was commanded by Lt. Gen. Alexander Patch, but he returned to the United States recently, and was succeeded by Lt. Gen. Wade H. Haislip.

Headquarters Staff

Stimson explained that at present the occupation units actually consist only of the headquarters forces of the two armies, made up of about 1,000 men and officers for each army. The divisions corps now in the two armies were not listed in this initial announcement, Stimson explaining that the various units of the two armies were being selected.

This apparently referred to the plan to reshuffle and reorganize various divisions under the redeployment and demobilization programs.

Force of 400,000 Men

How many Ninth army divisions will be started home July 1 and how many of those reaching the United States will continue to the Pacific could not be learned.

The necessity of using three armies in the American zone of occupation for at least eight months after the German surrender was not explained.

The Third and Seventh armies will remain as long as the American zone is occupied will include the 400,000 men originally earmarked for occupation duties.

The Seventh army has been transferred from the sixth to the 12th army group, it was learned.

All American armies in Europe now are transferring divisions around to facilitate the redeployment and occupation programs.

The United States 97th Infantry division is the second complete division to leave the European theater and is now board ship at Le Havre. The 86th division is the other. Both possibly are slated for the Pacific.

They will be followed shortly by the Second, Fifth, 54th, 87th, 95th and 104th Infantry divisions and the 13th Armored division, all of which are to be sent to the Pacific by way of the United States, communications zone headquarters announced.

Approximately 2,500,000 troops will pass through the 17 redeployment centers of the assembly area command.

The 75th Infantry division has been selected to staff the 17 assembly area command redeployment camps.

TOO MANY STRIKES. NLRB GOES BROKE

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The NLRB disclosed today that it has gone broke with two weeks more to go before a new appropriation becomes available. It blamed its plight on a rising number of strike votes.

The Smith-Connelly War Labor Disputes act, requiring that a strike vote be taken within 30 days of notice that a dispute exists, has dipped deep into the National Labor Relations board's treasury.

While it is making an emergency appeal to Congress for permission to transfer about $80,000 from its printing and binding account to general expenses, it has called a halt on all investigations and new hearings in the field for ten days—June 12 to 22.

Two Autos Collide

No one was injured at 7:30 p. m. yesterday when cars driven by Homer Mellinger, 27, of R. D. 1, Lisbon, and Edward Hubner, 28, of Youngstown, collided on Route 7, three miles north of North Lima. Both were traveling east and collided when Mellinger tried to pass Hubner, state patrolmen said.

5,579 Lives Lost In Sinking Of 1,154 U.S. Merchant Ships

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The war at sea cost this country 1,554 merchant ships up to V-E day and 5,573 crewmen dead or missing. The Army lost 3,604 soldiers drowned in troop movements against Italy and Germany.

Against these sobering figures, however, Americans were told today that their shipbuilders sent more than seven tons of cargo shipping down from Sept. 1, 1939, to last May 8.

Far outweighing this were deliveries to 5,016 ships totaling 48,674,000 deadweight tons, built in the three years, 1942-44.

Commission Chairman Emery S. Land said the sinkings were accompanied by "heavy loss of life". He added that the casualty toll was raised to 6,066 on May 1 by 487 seamen and officers listed as prisoners of war.

Mullins will offer four scholarships to high school graduates each year, beginning next spring, Whitlock announced. Whenever possible, two of the four winners will be students who are sons of Mullins employees.

Men expecting to enter the armed services immediately after graduation may apply for the scholarships, and if successful, the fund will be held for them until they are discharged.

Under the Mullins' scholarship plan, all expenses, tuition, books, board and room for the first year's course at the university will be paid. After that, under the university's cooperative plan, students will alternate school sessions of eight weeks, with eight-week work sessions, during which they combine theory with practice and earn money for schooling at the same time.

Nearly half of the Army's troop losses, also announced last night, resulted from the sinking of two British-operated ships, said Maj. Gen. C. P. Gross, chief of army transportation.

Estimating that from this country made an additional trip at sea between theaters, Gross said the loss amounted to only four out of every 21,400,000 tons.

The Best Is None Too Good

The proportions of Gen. Omar N. Bradley's responsibility as head of U. S. Veterans' Administration are plainly drawn in critical reports by American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars on veterans' hospitals.

These two semi-public organizations have declared, in effect, a lack of confidence in the existing practices of veterans' hospitals as a whole. They find some hospitals operating up to high standards, but their general conclusion is that there are many hospitals below standard.

The question they raise is difficult. They want the best possible care for veterans—care equal to that obtainable in the finest private hospitals. They will not be satisfied with care merely as good as that to be found in the average hospital. In effect, they are challenging the ability of government to meet the highest private standards.

This is a fundamental point. The best is none too good for war veterans; the public subscribes to that policy. Yet, the veterans' organizations and the public know it is difficult to obtain exceptional efficiency in public institutions. Whether the particular institution happens to be a hospital or something else, the very fact it is supported by taxation and administered by personnel inclined to think more about security than improvement is a handicap for efficiency.

That is Gen. Bradley's job—to provide incentive and means for improvement. Through his efforts, the nation can prove it really intends to pay its debt of gratitude to the men and women who sacrificed most heavily when danger threatened.

Canadian Geese

If the radicals in England make as sorry a showing as the radicals in Canada when the time comes to count their votes, wishful Americans are going to start jumping at conclusions. But perhaps the Canadian geese are not dependable as straws in the wind.

In effect, the return to power of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's Liberal party in Canada's election on Monday is of less interest than the failure of the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation to improve its position and the ability of the Progressive Conservatives to improve theirs. In the House of Commons elected in the spring of 1940, the latter had a weak third place, while the Conservatives had a weak second. Apparently the result of this week's voting will be to give Conservatives a stronger second place while knocking the C.C.F. minority out of the running.

The Liberal party's success was assured by the successful conclusion of the war in Europe. Conscription had been the burning issue. Thus, victory amounted to vindication of the dominant party's policy, which had been a political compromise. In fact, the outcome of the election is a vindication of compromise. Canada has moved a little further to the right, not at all to the left and apparently intends to pick up momentum in a course down the middle. Americans tempted to jump at extremes will do well to consider jumping at the middle, instead. Prime Minister King has given us a free lesson in the probabilities of postwar politics.

The Right To Be Wrong

Few politicians dare to admit openly that they are opposed to a free press. It amounts to a confession of their own insecurity. That is the obvious explanation for the curious fact that a report on press freedom throughout the world by the American Society of Newspaper Editors shows unanimous endorsement of a principle being observed mainly in the breach. Few governments are strong enough to tolerate criticism from objective critics. Material for the report was collected by Wilbur Forrest, Ralph McGill and Carl W. Ackerman, a trio of well-known newspaper figures.

The freedom of newspapers to publish what they choose is like the freedom of all members of a family to do as they please. It subsists on tolerance. It is destroyed by the assumption of dictatorial right. There can be no freedom of speech of any kind under a dictatorship for the simple reason there can be no dictatorship where critics are free to oppose dictatorship. The key to fascism is the one-party monopoly.

In the final analysis, freedom of press is the right to be wrong in the judgment of whatever authority may be dominant. There are few countries in the world with governments stable enough to tolerate differences of opinion. The United States has been blessed with enough stability. So has Great Britain. Most of the others must try to conceal their weakness by pretending to be in favor of a thing they dare not risk.

Statesmen Aren't Hired

It would be a pity if the honest effort to improve the congressional pay scale—and, later on, the pay scale of other important federal employees—were to be discredited for lack of one simple precaution.

No one should make the mistake of claiming that better congressmen can be obtained merely by raising the rate of congressional pay. The talents of a good congressman can't be hired, nor can they be bought. They are the expression of a zeal for a highly specialized and narrowly exacting kind of public service.

The only thing that better pay can do toward improving congressional ability is to rob some potential candidates of the excuse that they cannot afford to think about going to the national legislature. Unless many other measures were taken simultaneously, a mere raise in pay might result in congressional deterioration.

The United States, wealthy as it is, could not afford to pay what a really good congressman is they love to!

worth to the nation. It would be as futile as trying to put a price on a dead soldier's sacrifice, or a wounded man's handicap. All that can be done is to furnish a competence that will enable good men to serve the nation without too great a financial penalty.

The Stars Say

For Friday, June 15.

DESPITE certain petty obstructions or postponements, this day should move under high tempo to desired goals of achievement and worthwhile success. Large and important projects, especially in lines of fresh endeavor, are bound to succeed under concentrated effort, indomitable energy, and thoroughly workable and practical methods which may put to the test the soundness of ideas, sustained initiative and aggressiveness. This with clever strategies should warrant cooperation from influential sources, of political, diplomatic or fraternal character.

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to forge ahead on the inauguration of large and important projects, possibly on bold and ingenious lines or in new fields of operation. Sound and practical ideas, capable of tried and enduring demonstration, should win substantial cooperation of organizations of influence and prestige. Initiative, determination and unfaltering will should place such objectives on a firm base, despite petty delays or obstacles. More personal affairs or aspirations are rather uncertain, befuddled or treacherous.

In the final analysis, freedom of press is the right to be wrong in the judgment of whatever authority may be dominant. There are few countries in the world with governments stable enough to tolerate differences of opinion. The United States has been blessed with enough stability. So has Great Britain. Most of the others must try to conceal their weakness by pretending to be in favor of a thing they dare not risk.

Safety Engineering

It is good to see pictures of the first new model automobiles in four years beginning to appear in the papers. And we find it particularly good to see a broader, sturdier bumper on the fronts of at least two of them. We hope it's symptomatic of a new trend.

We've achieved tremendous additional speed in the air during the war years. And we've built up a great yen for surface speed among the motorists who have been keeping to a maximum 35 in the hope of prolonging the life of aging cars and thinning tires.

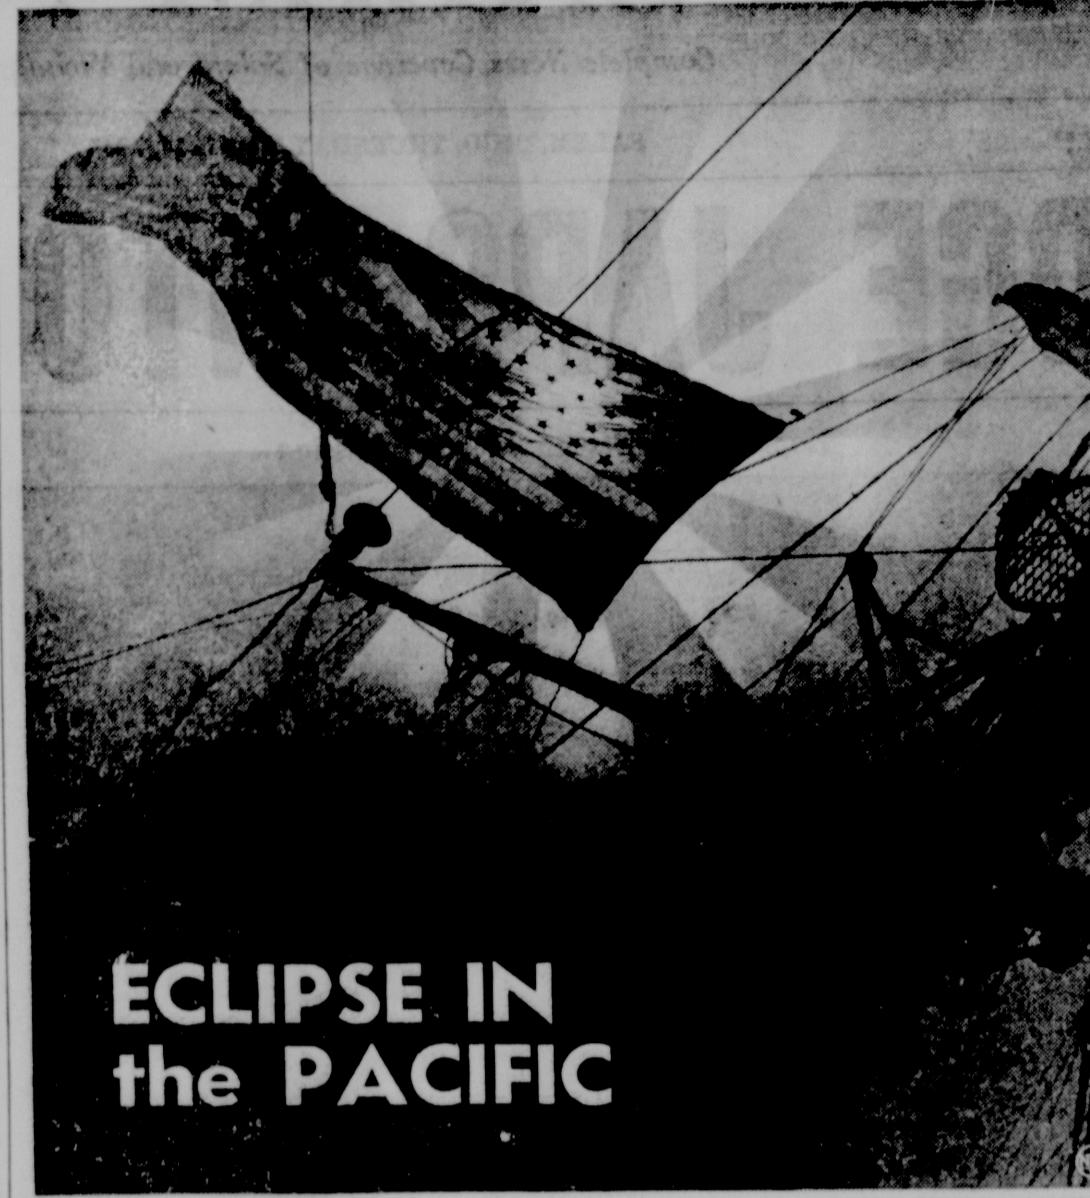

Automobile makers could probably build much faster post-war cars, but we rather hope they won't. In the last post-war years our traffic casualties exceeded our annual military casualties since then. And so, since the automobile makers can't engineer sense and caution into the post-war driver, we hope that they will engineer a little more slowness and safety into the post-war car, and leave the speedways in the skies.

Malnutrition, Delinquency

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

THERE has been a great deal of discussion recently concerning juvenile delinquency, which in plain language means bad behavior in children. It is well recognized that certain physical defects present which may interfere with the absorption and use of food by the body must be corrected.

One of the physical disorders, which seem to be especially important, according to Doctor Alois S. Church of New York, is malnutrition. For example, it is known that a child who does not get enough vitamin B-complex may be irritable, moody and "mean." With more vitamins B deficiency, depression and emotional upsets are frequently noted. Of more than 700 children ranging in age from 11 to 17 years in a home for delinquent boys, four-fifths showed evidences of poor nutrition in various degrees.

Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column. Address your inquiries to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Need of Legumes Brings Acreage Farm Payments

A large number of delinquent children crave food, may steal money in order to buy food, and when they do get it, they eat it rapidly. In institutions, delinquent children often hide food to be eaten later, even when they are assured of three good meals a day. Children talk about food as much as, if not more than, they do about any other subject.

In a study of a number of boys admitted to an institution for delinquent children, it was found that many had meals at home only rarely. Many had meals at hamberger stands and drug stores. Half of the children were underweight and four-fifths had paledness, poor muscles and signs of deficiency of vitamins A, B and C.

Behavior Suffers

Any person's conduct will depend, at least in part, upon his physical condition, on how he feels.

If children are permitted to be undernourished and underfed it is easily understandable that their behavior is likely to suffer.

Of course, the maintenance of good nutrition depends on seeing to it that children get three well-balanced meals a day, that they have plenty of rest and sleep, adequate exercise, and are not subjected to nervous or mental excitement which will interfere with digestion.

Any physical defects present which may interfere with the absorption and use of food by the body must be corrected.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome loose plate discomfort. FASTEETH, an impregnated powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates, holds them longer so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath).

A SONG TO REMEMBER

by Willard Warner

Copyright 1945, N.Y. & Co.

XXXI
MADAME SAND looked up from her writing desk as the servant announced Jozef Elsner.
"Who?"
"Professor Elsner, Madame."
"I am not in."
"He has not asked for you, Madame."
"Monsieur Chopin is not in either."
"Thank you, Madame."

The servant bowed. He was about to leave. George called him, "I will see Professor Elsner. I misunderstood the name."

"Thank you, Madame." The door closed. George heaved a sigh. She picked up her pen but she did not write. She looked at the paper on her desk, waiting. Then she heard the door open and was conscious of Jozef Elsner in the room but she did not raise her eyes.

"How do you do, Madame." George continued to study the papers on her desk.
"You had a pleasant journey, I hope?" George raised her eyes slowly. She appeared not to know Jozef Elsner.

He stood before her, his hat in his hand. There was a pleasant smile on his face but the smile turned into an expression of disappointment when it was apparent she did not recognize him, or seem to. "I am Elsner, Madame. Jozef Elsner."

"Yes," she said, "Professor Elsner. I remember." Jozef Elsner fidgeted with his hat. "How is Frederic?"

"We were certain you had gone back to Poland, Professor."

"Me? Without Frederic? Oh, no! Please, I assure you—I am right here—right here!"

He would have gone on but he heard Frederic in the next room, not his voice, but his music—the only Frederic could play. He listened. "You have no idea, Madame, how that sounds to me." George did not answer.

"Would you tell him that I am here, please?"

"Never interrupt him when he works."

"Eh?" Jozef Elsner was a little startled. Then he smiled. "If you never do it, Madame, then you must not do it now. I will wait, of course. I have waited so long—a few minutes longer—"

"Frederic might be much happier to know you had gone back to Poland."

"What an absurd idea! You will pardon me, Madame—but I find the suggestion most—how shall I say it—I find it most extraordinary."

"I find it very simple, Monsieur."

"Umm..." Frederic doesn't like scenes. But if you know him so well, Monsieur. I don't have to tell you that. For myself, I find them not the least embarrassing. It were better you didn't see him."

"Umm..." That's a plain statement, Monsieur. But I am a plain woman and I speak plainly. It's the only way I know how to talk. The fact is, Monsieur, that much has happened since he last saw you.

"Umm..." His outlook has changed completely."

"You think so? Umm..." He has found his work here—in these surroundings; not in Paris. He will continue to live as he is living now. Is that plain, Monsieur?"

"Very plain, Madame. Yet if you don't mind, I should like Frederic to tell that himself. Eh? In fact, I insist on it."

"Certainly..." "Humph." Jozef Elsner started toward the door to the next room from whence came the music of the piano.

"Professor!"
"Eh?"

DU PONT SELF-CLEANING HOUSE PAINT

New Beauty at Low Cost

Speedy, Easy Way to Paint Walls

Starts White—Stays White

Why is DuPont House Paint so brilliantly white? Because it's made with titanium dioxide, the pigment that's even whiter than snow! This paint stays white, too, because—

It's Self-Cleaning

DuPont House Paint is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine powder washes off dirt surface. Heavy rains wash this powder away, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. (Excessive accumulations of dirt, particularly in sooty industrial communities, or in heavily shaded locations, may delay or interfere with this process.) Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

Guards the Surface

DuPont House Paint also protects against rot and decay, gives lasting beauty and real durability.

Costs No More than other good house paints.

Navy Mothers Club Shows Rapid Growth

Six new members were obligated at a meeting of the Navy Mothers club Wednesday evening at the Memorial building. This brings the membership up to 92.

The club will observe its first anniversary at the next meeting on July 11.

Members meet every Tuesday at Memorial building to sew and to day an appeal was made for more workers and also for more articles for veterans.

Recently six large cartons of articles were sent to the U.S. Navy Recruiting hospital at Newport, R. I. Mrs. Anita Edwards who is in charge of this department of work at this hospital, has written a letter of appreciation in which Lieut. Commander Ruth Anthony, supervisor of nurses, and Capt. Mills, who is in charge, expressed their thanks to the club. This letter with several personal "thank you" letters from veterans who were injured on Iwo Jima, were read by Mrs. Charles Wernet, welfare chairman.

Mrs. Lloyd Firth has been appointed publicity chairman of the club. The auditing committee is comprised of Mrs. John Kerr, Miss Ruth Kerr, Mrs. C. C. Hanson and Mrs. Jack Bell. At one time during the year the club had $900 in its treasury.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Henry Schultz and Mrs. Ola Lea Hart.

5 School Districts Plan November Ballot Issues

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 14.—At least five school districts will submit current expense tax levies or bond issues for building purposes at the Nov. 6 election, Columbiana county officials said today.

Tax levy votes will be asked in the East Liverpool and Wellsville cities and in Yellow Creek local districts, embracing East Liverpool and Wellsville cities and areas in St. Clair, Yellow Creek, Madison, Wayne and Washington townships.

Bond issues will be submitted for new school buildings in the United and Knox local districts, which include Butler and Hanover townships.

Other boards of education are expected to act on questions or issues before Aug. 8, candidates' filing deadline for ballot places.

5,579 LIVES

10,000 as against 7,200 soldiers of every 10,000 in the first World war.

Losses in this war resulted from the sinking of 36 vessels and the damaging of five others and do not take into consideration casualties suffered in invasion landings.

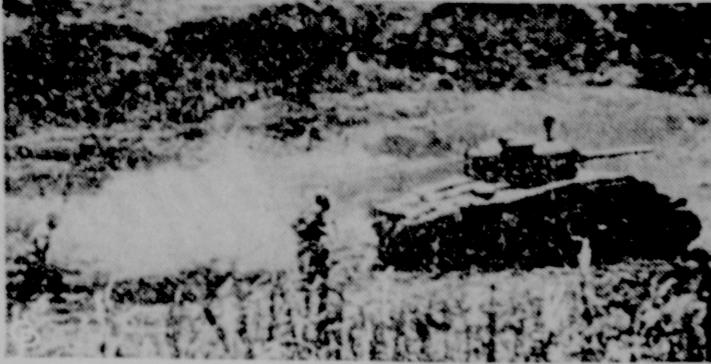

The greatest tragedy was the sinking of the British troopship Rohina Nov. 26, 1943, off Djidjelli, Algeria, with the loss of 1,015 men—more than half the 1,991 American soldiers aboard.

The second major disaster was the sinking of the British-controlled Belgian trooper Leopoldville, torpedoed last Christmas eve off Cherbourg, France, on a trip from Southampton, England. Of 2,237 U. S. soldiers aboard, 764 were lost.

The heaviest loss on an American vessel resulted from the sinking of the Liberty ship Paul Hamilton by an aerial torpedo on April 29, 1944, off Algiers. It took the lives of 504 officers and men.

his feet calling for its passage notwithstanding the veto of the governor.

"The cry of new taxes is a favorite way of condemning a good proposal," Daniels shouted. "This law doesn't run to eventually—it runs to May 31, 1947."

He asserted the measure would not increase the cost of public education to the taxpayers.

Unequal Distribution

Cramer, however, estimated the cost would be increased nine per cent above the previous biennium. The governor has estimated the added cost for the next two school years at $15,300,000 over those of the preceding two years.

Opponents supported the governor's contention that the bill would provide additional money for "wealthy" school districts, which he said don't need it, and fails to take care of the needs of poor districts.

They included Minority Leader Maurice W. Lipscher (Mahoning), H. D. Byrne (Portage) and Clingan Jackson (Mahoning), all Democrats. Lausche recommended $109,700,000 for the next two school years. The Daniels-Cramer bill provides $111,000,000 for the biennium but by extending the time through May, 1947, the total is increased to $117,760,000, he asserted.

Correspondents Tell
of Interesting Island
War Happenings

By JAMES HUTCHESON

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN THE PHILIPPINES — Yarns from the Yanks:

Pfc. Fred P. Romero said he played dead more realistically than he ever imagined he could for 14 hours in a Japanese bivouac area after an enemy ambush killed his comrades.

The division patrol, on a central Philippines island, was investigating the apparently abandoned site when a Japanese opened fire.

"The Japs had split our patrol and ambushed five of us," said the doughboy from Los Angeles. "I was the only one alive."

He wriggled to a boulder, with his rifle and lone grenade under him.

"I could see where the automatic rifle was firing from," he continued,
"but it was too far for my grenade.
A machinegun had opened fire
up in front, but I couldn't see it."

Escaped at Night

"After I laid there about two hours, around noontime, a couple of Japs came out of the bushes and examined the bodies of the other men. I could watch them with my eyes half open. I decided to keep the grenade ready and take them with me if they tried to turn me over."

For some strange reason they didn't touch Romero, although they stood next to him and "jabbered like lightning."

Through out the seemingly endless afternoon he did his best to lie motionless while groups of four or five "passed near enough to kick me."

Romero decided to make a break for it at about 11 p.m. He took to the river. He estimated it took him three hours to feel his way for one 200-yard stretch, as he stopped frequently because of illumination by lightning flashes. He said it took him an hour to work his way around a 15-foot waterfall.

It was dawn when he reached his

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. These may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pounds a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste must stay in the body longer. That may start in with backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. If you have any of these symptoms, with aching and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, and success will come in for 10 days. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

You know that sagging, sawdust feeling. It's a wartime symptom of the high cost of living. You often get it when you go to market or pay a bill.

But not when you pay your electric bill. For the price of electric service hasn't followed other prices UP. It's still at low pre-war levels—or even a little lower. In fact, if yours is an average family, you're getting just about twice as much electricity for your money today as you did 15 years ago.

We're glad we've been able to keep your electric service cheap and friendly and dependable—in spite of wartime conditions. That makes our hard work and careful business management seem worth while. And we are glad that it helps give you some relief from "rag doll knees"!

Noiseless Rubber Springs to Relace Ones Made of Steel

(By Associated Press) AKRON, June 14.—Noiseless rubber springs will replace "squeaky and inefficient steel suspension" in streamlined postwar buses and automobiles, predict officials of the P. F. Goodrich Co.

A test bus, equipped with rubber springs, has been driven over 125,000 miles in service at East Liverpool, O., without "the slightest bit of trouble or replacement," declared W. A. Smith, Goodrich suspension sales manager.

"Similar buses in the fleet required replacement of conventional steel leaf springs at an average rate of 61,000 miles. Five automobiles with torsilastic* springs have traveled over 125,000 miles each with identical achievement records."

The new device acts as its own shock absorber, requires no lubrication or repair and contributes to the "low profile" effect of streamlined vehicles by reducing their unloaded height, Smith claimed.

This "revolutionary improvement" will be applied to 1,000 buses being built this year by the Twin Coach Co. of Kent, he said.

Twin Coach Purchasing Agent Harry Rhodes asserted "our company plans to use them exclusively on our postwar yearly output of 1,500 buses."

The springs are composed of a steel cylinder and central shaft with a layer of natural rubber fused to the metals.

SUGAR CONTROLS ARE TIGHTENED

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The government today clamped rigid controls on sugar in an effort to insure fairer distribution of available supplies.

Fixed quotas for all government agencies and other users were ordered by the War Food Administration which also announced that civilians will receive less sugar during the next three months.

The order divides among all primary distributors the total quantity of sugar available for distribution and gives each a separate quota for sales to the WFA, government agencies through the Army, authorized purchasers and civilians.

The civilian allocation of 1,380,000 tons for July, August and September was 10,000 tons below the current quarter.

In Yakima, Wash., Chairman Anderson (D., N.M.) disclosed yesterday that the House Food Investigating committee hopes sugar supplies can be augmented by Phillipine production this year.

FOOD PARLEY HELD BY TWELVE NATIONS

LONDON, June 14.—A twelve-power shortage on food supplies opened under hush-hush conditions here today.

Representatives of Britain, the United States, Canada, France, Belgium, Denmark, Luxembourg, Holland, Norway, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Greece are attending.

The meeting is closed to the press and the public. The British foreign office is to dispense all information. A foreign office commentator, correcting a statement of yesterday, said a United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration representative would participate in the conference.

"Super-Eye" Is Put To Industrial Use

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, June 14.—A scientific super-eye, capable of bringing into view objects 100 times smaller than those within the range of the most powerful optical microscope, is being adopted to everyday industrial use by Battelle Memorial Institute.

The Electron microscope is a $26,000, partially gold-plated gadget that puts electrical particles to work in magnifying objects that measure as little as two ten millionths of an inch. Under the device, for instance, a dime could be made to appear a mile wide.

Battelle institute physicists are checking possibilities of adapting the principle to metals, heretofore impossible because electrons will not pass through opaque objects. Biological laboratories have used the principle for some time to investigate tiny organisms that were hidden from view under ordinary light microscopes.

Physicist H. R. Nelson of Battelle told newsmen that researchers hoped to pave the way for development of better grade metals, through unveiling more secrets about the base structure of the metals.

LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK by Hal Boyle

By WILLIAM F. BONI
(Substituting For Hal Boyle)

PARIS.—Army traffic being what it is, it is no trick at all for a fellow to go hitch-hiking around the continent . . . provided he is in Allied uniform.

Say, for instance, you had slept through the call that was supposed to wake you in time to catch the Brussels-Paris train, and you didn't have any more luggage than a musette bag. You started thumbing at 9:30. In the morning, and were in Paris at seven that evening. You would not, perhaps, have taken the most direct route. But you would have covered in reverse a lot of lovely country through which the Allied armies swept last fall (and marvelled at how quickly the scars of war have healed in the open fields of southern Belgium and northeast France), and seen for the first time the handsome last-war memorial erected to honor the thousands of Canadians who died at Vimy Ridge.

At Beauvais I had my first and last lift in a civilian car. M. Duval's, and I chatted with him in what I thought was passable French until I picked up another American at the next town. He was Staff Sgt. William J. Taylor of Philadelphia, and I didn't feel so badly about the deficiencies in my own French after I learned he was born in Paris and had lived there most of the time until the Germans entered Paris in June, 1940.

The sergeant was given 24 hours to leave town, and made the most of it by going all the way to the states, where he joined the air force and eventually returned to France as crewman.

FLAG DAY, JUNE 14

The Flag Goes By

Hats off!

Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums,
A flash of color beneath the sky:

Hats off!

The flag is passing by!

Blue and crimson and white it shines,
Over the steel-tipped, ordered lines.

Hats off!

The colors before us fly:
But more than the flag is passing by.

Sea-fights and land-fights, grim and great,
Fought to make and to save the state:
Weary marches and sinking ships:
Cheers of victory on dying lips:

Days of plenty and years of peace;
March of a strong land's swift increase;
Equal justice, right and law,
Stately honor and reverend awe;

Sign of a nation, great and strong
To ward her people from foreign wrong;
Pride and glory and honor, all
Live in the colors to stand or fall.

Hats off!

Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums;
And loyal hearts are beating high:

Hats off!

The flag is passing by!

—Henry Holcomb Bennett

Slaughterers Must Explain Shortages

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, June 14.—The district OPA said today 275 northeastern Ohio slaughterers would have to explain alleged discrepancies in their reports to various federal agencies last year before obtaining permits under the new slaughtering control program.

C. A. Roth, district meat control officer, said the slaughterers have been ordered to appear at the district office in groups of 50, beginning tomorrow, with all records of their 1944 operations.

The operators involved are class two slaughterers, which means they sell more than 6,000 pounds of meat a year and do not have federal inspection.

Roth said reports submitted by the 275 to the War Food administration and the Defense Supplies Corp. showed a greater volume of business than indicated by the number of points turned in to the OPA.

Roth emphasized the new permits would be based on the 1944
slaughter as measured by the number of ration points surrendered to the OPA. He predicted only about 60 per cent of the 500 ultimately would qualify for the permits.

Salem A.C. Whips Youngstown Weatherseals 8-7 In Final Frame

Clutch Hit By Dan Kenst Sends Winning Run Across Plate In Last Of Seventh

Displaying that ability to come back and win after a poor start, the Salem Athletics last night whipped the Youngstown Weatherseals 8-7 at Firestone park in Columbiania for their fourth win in six games this year. The local baseball club has won four games, lost one and tied one Sunday, if weather and work at Centennial park permit, the A. C. outfit plans to open its Salem season at the park.

A two-run scoring hit by Dan Kenst in the last of the seventh inning, the final frame, measured the margin for Salem and sent the Double AA team Youngstown started things with a bang in the third inning when second Baseman Straley clubbed a single and went to second on Charlie Helmick's error. The next batter, Centerfielder Bayus, wacked a one-baser to score Straley with the first run.

In the fourth the fireworks began—and with the customary power, Youngstown's left fielder, Stallsmith, was lead-off man and was on when Salem's McClun conked him with a pitch. The next man struck out but Bob Helmick and Shortstop Crouch singled to tally one run. Charlie Helmick made it to first on an error and another run scored. Straley was out on a fielder's choice and Charlie Helmick scored. Bayus singled, his second hit in three trips, to score the final marker of the frame.

With Youngstown leading 6-0, Salem swam into action in their half of the fourth. Simpson and Al Catios led off with singles and Steve Cibula ran them across with a long triple. Halverstadt then singled Cibula in and scored later when Gordy Sculion banged out a one-bagger. Four runs crossed the platter and it was 6-4 as the fifth began.

Youngstown failed to tally in the fifth but Salem picked up two runs. They tied it up 6-6. Simpson scored after getting on by virtue of an error and being sacrificed to second by Al Catios.

He crossed the plate when Cibula got his second hit in four trips, a line drive single. Halverstadt came through with another hit—a double—to bring in Cibula with the tying run.

Youngstown tallied once in the sixth and as the final game came along Salem was in the rear 7-6.

Simpson, leading off again, walked and Catios again sacrificed him over second base way. Cibula was out. Pitcher Rogers to First Sacker Helmick and things didn't look too good.

Halverstadt was passed putting men on first and third, and he went to second on the first pitch to Dan Kenst.

Kenst then made himself the savior of the ball game by smacking out a single to score Simpson with the tying marker and Halverstadt with the winner.

Rogers was credited with the loss and Red Allison, who replaced McClun in the sixth, gets the victory. Youngstown parked out 10 hits, including a double by Bob Helmick and a triple by Natyshak, while Salem's extra batters went to Cibula and Halverstadt. Salem also clicked at the plate 10 times.
